Elegant Georgian Manor House

Tetbury,
Cotswolds, UK.

A small, elegant Cotswold manor house, built in the Queen Anne William and Mary style circa 1700. It has been the home of the Benton Family for over two generations, and has recently been lovingly and superbly restored by the current owners.

Situated in 200 acres of Cotswold farmland, the house is approached via a mature, tree-lined driveway. It's a fine example of classical Georgian symmetrical design, delightful in its practical simplicity, with a homely arrangement of rooms. These include three elegant reception rooms, a contemporary kitchen and eight individually designed en-suite bedrooms. With log fires, oak floors, antique furniture and high-end bathrooms, and an Orangery suitable for functions. The house welcomes families but has very much been designed with adult relaxation in mind.
